

HAPPY ENDING!

The female kitten that captured so many hearts along the Brooklyn Bridge footpath in September was finally lured into a raccoon cage—with the aid of catnip--on the evening of 1 October.

As her kindly and resourceful rescuer already had three cats of her own, and Bella had yet to be examined by a vet, she remained in a cage in a Middagh Street hallway for 3 nights until I returned from a brief holiday and stopped by to collect her.

Now Bella lives in the lap of luxury in a Pineapple Street penthouse with a view of the city!

For more information, e-mail: guimmart@gmail.com.